William P. Stack night superintendent do the work to your satisfaction. Best printing at 1003 24th street northwest, was found 6:15 o'clock this morning. He had fallen through the chute from the top of the building, a distance of about forty feet

> The body was found by the night watchman, Nicholas Phaden, who, with John Fitzgerald, foreman of the retort room, who came to his assistance, summoned an ambulance from the Emergency Hospital. The doctor found that Stack was dead. After an investigation of the circumstances of the death the coroner gave a certificate of death due to ac-

Stack was last seen about 4 o'clock this morning, when the night watchman made his usual hourly report on the reading of the gas meter. An hour later he was not to be found and it was then that the night watchman, fearing that something was wrong, made a search for him. Stack's body was found on the floor of the empty coal shed, and it was evident that he had fallen from the top of the building, where a narrow gangway passes over the top of the coal chutes.

Missed His Footing.

One part of the shed was to be used this morning, and it is thought that Stack about 5 o'clock went to make an inspection of the building, and in going along the gangway missed his footing and fell to the ground below.

An iron girder stretches across the chute about half way from the bottom, and it is thought that Stack struck his ures before placing orders for head against that as he fell. old and was born in Washington. > FARGO, N. Dak., September 6.-A man who fought his way to former President Roosevelt and called him a liar gave a bad scare yesterday to the crowd at Island Park, in this city. Col. Roosevelt selzed the man and helped to eject him from the platform.

> The colonel had just finished his Labor day address when a small, poorly dressed man pushed his way through the mass of people until he could make himself heard by the colonel. He wore a battered hat, and was unshaven.

"I have a question to ask you, Roosevelt," he shouted. He raised one arm over the heads of the people, waving it to attract the colonel's attention, and Chicago Boasts of Accommodations called out again and again that he want-ed to ask a question. Col. The best bargain time of the year is when the makers are bringing out their new patterns—when the Palais Royal china chief visits the wholesale markets and picks out the old patterns at least prices of the year. As of Lace Curtains, so of China-the practical housekeeper understands that, while new patterns are brought out every year, they are very often no more artistic, and sometimes less so, than the so-called old patterns. So that when Curtains or China are offered at very much less prices than at any other time of the year it's little surprising that old patterns are not considered a material fault. Note that the day of days for
